Engineer Maintenance

Gujarat, India

Experienced Maintenance Engineer in the automobile industry with a focus on ORVM and IRVM assembly operations. Skilled in preventive and breakdown maintenance to ensure equipment reliability and reduce downtime. Proficient in mechanical, electrical, and automation systems, with hands-on expertise in TPM practices and root cause analysis. Strong track record in supporting smooth production flow, improving machine efficiency, and maintaining safety and quality standards. Collaborates effectively with cross-functional teams to meet production goals. Committed to continuous improvement and lean maintenance practices to enhance plant performance and support organizational growth in a fast-paced manufacturing environment.

What you'll do

- As a Maintenance Engineer in the automobile industry, I ensure the smooth operation of ORVM and IRVM assembly equipment through preventive and breakdown maintenance. I monitor machine performance, reduce downtime, and coordinate with teams to solve technical issues. I apply TPM practices, manage spare parts, and follow safety standards. My role supports continuous improvement and helps achieve production efficiency and uptime goals within a fast-paced manufacturing environment.

What we are looking for

- Dynamic Maintenance Engineer with 4–5 years of experience in the automobile industry, focused on ORVM and IRVM assembly operations. Skilled in preventive maintenance, breakdown analysis, and improving equipment reliability to reduce downtime. Experienced in troubleshooting, monitoring machine performance, and coordinating with production and quality teams. Proficient in TPM implementation, spare parts management, and ensuring safety and quality standards. Committed to continuous improvement and seeking a role to apply my expertise in enhancing plant efficiency and operational success.
